Dr. Jonathan Cuthrell

“Graduates of a good dental school have acquired basically the same skill set when it comes to technically addressing oral health issues,” says Dr. Jonathan Cuthrell, who partners with Dr. Jonathan Mochnick at their office in Winston-Salem, NC, to offer a refreshing and multifaceted approach to the way dental medicine is delivered.

“What we feel most differentiates one dental practice from another is the personalities of the doctors and the way they choose to interact with their patients.”

“We work to establish a trusting and synergetic relationship with each patient,” adds Dr. Mochnick. “A first visit includes a significant amount of time simply sitting, talking, and listening. Connecting in this way lets us get a good start in understanding expectations and identifying what’s important to the patient. Each person is unique and that makes our job interesting and enjoyable.”

This approach is also challenging because the doctors view each new patient interaction as if they, themselves, are being interviewed.

“Being a family practice helping people of all ages, we always ensure that each individual feels comfortable with us before moving forward with treatment. If patients are apprehensive for any reason about proceeding, we do all that we can to address the matter to their satisfaction,” says Dr. Mochnick. “Ultimately, we want everyone feeling comfortable and confident that they are receiving honest, quality care.”

HIGH-TECH, GENTLE TOUCH

Drs. Cuthrell and Mochnick incorporate the latest, well-proven advancements in dentistry and deliver them with exceptional standards of care. Patient education and respect for patient decision making are also pillars of the practice. “It’s our obligation to help patients understand how their oral health affects their overall health. We adhere to a policy of letting them know what options are available and then letting them decide what they want to pursue,” Dr. Cuthrell emphasizes.

The practice offers all aspects of general and cosmetic dentistry, including implants to permanently replace one or more missing teeth and Invisalign® clear braces to straighten and realign malpositioned teeth.

“We have a great advantage when working with actual dental restorations, such as crowns, bridges, veneers, and dentures,” notes Dr. Cuthrell. “Our dental lab and ceramists are right here in the same building, and they work closely with us to deliver on-time, customized results.”

In addition, the doctors are equipped with intra-oral cameras, digitized imaging, and the ability to offer sedation options when requested.

“It’s very fulfilling seeing beautiful, healthy smiles created and maintained,” says Dr. Mochnick, “but it’s successfully working together with the person behind that smile that we most celebrate.”
